JUST FOR GIGGLES

Slab City and Salvation Mountain

Niland, CA In 1985, Leonard Knight, asked for forgiveness and had a vision. He began single-handedly to build Salvation Mountain. Made out of Adobe and hand painted, the mountain is an amazing sight in the middle of the Mohave Desert. The land is an old deserted Air Force Base where the buildings have been leveled leaving the cement slabs, thus the name "slab city."

Leonard lives his humble life there devoting his time to building this mountain

Salton Sea Wildlife Refuge (NWR)

This is one of the best areas for bird watching in Southern California. It was established in 1930 currently consisting of 2,200 manageable acres. It is located in the Sonoran Desert of Imperial and Riverside counties just north of El Centro.

Salton Sea

Located in the southeastern corner of California, it is actually a lake. Covers 376 sq. miles making it larger than Lake Tahoe and Mono Lake. Maximum depth reaches 51 feet and is 227ft below sea level.

Military Treats

The Blue Angels Airobatic team practices here in El Centro from January - March. You will often be rewarded by overhead free shows. Another group that trains down here is the Golden Knights Parachute group. Their training site is the proving ground in Yuma.

Felicity

In the eighties, a Frenchman founded the Town of Felicity on 2,800 acres of the desert. He built a marble-and Glass pyramid and proclaimed it the Official Center of the World. There are 416 granite panels etched with timelines and drawings. For a fee, you can have your name on one of these panels. A church is one of the recent additions. This interesting town is worth a stop on your way to Yuma.

Imperial Dunes

For 40 miles along the Imperial Valley Agricultural band and for a depth of 5 miles, the dunes rise up to 300 feet above the desert floor, this area is well known to locals for the recreational value, with off-road fun and competitions. You require a pass to use this area. (available at the Chamber of Commerce. It is quite a contrast with the rest of the valley.

Superstition Mountain-Brawley

This is another off road area for your enjoyment north of El Centro.

Los Algodones

Algodones, Mexico is an unusual little border town. Within a four block radius, there are more pharmacies, doctors, dentists and opticians than a similar four block area anywhere else in the world! Thousands of Canadians, and Americans travel weekly to purchase heavily discounted prescriptions, eye-glasses and medical and dental care, as good as anywhere back home. You can drive your vehicle or RV to the American safe site and park for a fee. No shade-no dogs. The border is open from 6am to 10pm. You walk across the border and 'voila' you are in Mexico. You will need a Passport to return to the US.
